

POETRY.

From the Sunday Herald.
SEEING'S NOT BELIEVING.

BY T. HAYNES BAYLEY.

I saw her as I fancied fair, Yes fairest of earth's creatures;
I saw the purest red and white O'er her lovely features;
She smiled, and I sprinkled her,
Her malady relieving;
I wash'd both rose and lily off—
Oh! seeing's not believing!

I looked again, again I long'd To breathe the love's fond confession; I saw her eye-brows formed to give Her face its arch expression;
But gum is very apt to crack,
And whilst my breath was heaving, It so fell out that one fell off!
Oh! seeing's not believing!

I saw the tresses on her brow, So beautifully braided;
I never saw in all my life, Locks look so well as they did.
She walked with me one windy day—Ye zephyrs, why so thieving?
The lady lost her flaxen wig!
Oh! seeing's not believing!

I saw her form by Nature's hand So prodigally finished;
She was less perfect if enlarged, Less perfect if diminished;
Her toilet I surprised—the worst Of wonders then achieving;
None knew the beauty I perceived!
Oh! seeing's not believing!

I saw when costly gems I give,
The smile which she took them;
And if she said no tender thing, I've often seen her look them;
I saw her my affianced bride—
And then my mansion leaving, She ran away with Colonel Jones!
Oh! seeing's not believing!

FATHER SULLIVAN.—On board the steamerboat Boulogne, an Irish gentleman gave us, on honour, a specimen of a sermon which he declared he heard Father Sullivan, of Baltimore, deliver. Father S., says the narrator was a worthy man, with a red face, who found his parishioners rather slack in paying their Easter dues, and he took the following simple means to quicken their apprehension. Preaching to them about the gathering time, he said—"My Christian brethren and worthy parishioners, we must all die.
You must die, Tim Hearty, though fat and big you are; and you must die, Miss Hennessy, though you are a likely and decent woman. You must die, Ned Cassey though you have slated your new house; and I must die, though I am a priest of the parish and have the care of all your souls—the Lord between you and harm—to account for at the great and last day.
Eh! then, I am thinking honest men, what account I will be able to give to God Almighty of ye all, from the top to the bottom of the parish. I will have to walk at your head, on the day of judgment, carrying all your sins on my back, and standing before Goodness to excuse you from the devil and his angels, who will be roaring and stirring the fire to roast ye—the Lord spare you from his hand. Eh! then, when I'm at your head, Goodness will ex me. 'What kind of a congregation have ye here, Father S.?' —and I will say 'Pretty much like other congregations, my Lord.'— Goodness will then ex me, how are they off for drunkenness, Father S.?
—and I will answer, 'Mighty decent, please the Lord? And so Goodness will go through the ten commandments, and the precepts of the church and the cardinal virtues, and the seven deadly sins, and may be its good character I will be able to give ye my Christian heaters. But when Goodness axes, 'How were they off Father Sullivan, for paying their Easter dues?' what answer shall I give to that, ye Blackguard? Now mind me honest men, next Sunday will be Easter-day, and let me see what answer I'm to give the Lord."

PROSPECTUS

For the continuation of the
CARROLL FREE-PRESS.

THE interest of William Johnston, Esq., in this establishment, having been transferred to John Christy, the Free Press will in future be conducted by PEARCE & CHRISTY. The political complexion of this paper will not be changed —the editors being firm in their determination to preserve its neutral character.— The transfer from Mr. Johnston to Christy, has been made with the hope of ensuring the continuation of a newspaper in Carrollton: And with this view, the editors appeal to the people of the county for a patronage equal to the merits and importance of their enterprise. One of the editors being a practical printer, and having determined to devote his time exclusively to the interest of the paper, it is confidently hoped that, with a reasonable increase of their subscription list, the Carroll Free Press may be continued to the mutual advantage of both subscribers and publishers.

Of the convenience and necessity of a public Journal, published at the county seat, every citizen of the county must be convinced; and the editor trusts that, the people of Carroll will sustain them in their efforts to promote public good, and to secure an honest maintenance.

TERMS.—The Free Press will be published every Friday morning, at Two Dollars per annum, payable half yearly in advance. If payment be delayed until after the end of the year, $2 50 will be for the interest of all parties, this mode is respectfully recommended.

rate. All communications addressed to the Editors must be post paid.

SEVENTH VOLUME OF THE KNIKER-BOCKER MAGAZINE.

The January number of the Knickerbocker, or New-York Monthly Magazine commences a new volume, and will form the twenty-first number issued under the supervision of its present Proprietors and Editors. In the brief Advertisement by which the new series was introduced to the public whose patronage was only so far solicited, as it should seem to be deserved,—that the assistance of some of the ablest pens in the country had been secured in behalf of the work, and that, as it was thereafter to depend rather upon its merits, than upon frequent announcements of the future excellence to which it was to attain, it was submitted to its readers with the confident hope that it would prove deserving of the public favor.
This hope has not been disappointed.
Up to the present moment, the Journals of the different States in the Union, (to the number of more than six hundred,) and that silent but convincing sign, a steady increase of patronage, have borne testimony, that the labors of the many eminent writers presented to the public thro' the medium of this periodical have not been undervalued. While, therefore, the publishers acknowledge with gratitude the kindness with which their efforts have been received, they would take this occasion to repeat, that their efforts will be untiring, and that in a ratio with the enhancement of their ability, through the liberality of the public, will be their endeavors —without regard to labor or expense —to cater acceptably for the various literary appetites of a wide National community. The subjoined is a brief plan of the work. Its Original papers will be so varied as to form a combination of the Useful with the Entertaining and the Agreeable.
These will embrace the departments of Useful science, Essays, Tales and Poetry which may deserve the name.
The Literary Notices will comprise summary and candid reviews of new works, with such extracts, when practicable, as may be necessary to evince the justice of the accompanying criticisms.—The Editor's Tables will be devoted to the familiar discussion of local and general matters,—incuding the Drama, the Fine Arts, etc. The publishers design to make the Magazine agreeable to the old and young—to the sedate and the gay,—to all parties in politics,—(a subject from which, being non-partizans, they stand aloof.)—to mingle the valuable with the amusing,—and to pursue the tenor of their way, with cordial feelings towards all contemporaries.
The work will contain between 80 and 90 pages, of a close and beautiful type, per month,—making two volumes, of upward of a thousand pages, at the end of the year. And the proprietors believe they may safely affirm that, as regards beauty of execution, the Knickerbocker Magazine will not suffer in comparison with any similar publication foreign or domestic. It may not be amiss to say in addition to many contributors whose merits are incontestable, and whose talents are honorable to the country, this Magazine will be found, before the close of the seventh vol. to contain articles from the pens of James K. Paulding, W.
C. Bryant, the Rev. Timothy Flint, H. W. Longfellow, author of "Ottremer," Dr. R. M. Bird, author of "Po-ter Simple," "Jacob faithful," "Japhet eulogiums. The foregoing facts; in relation to this Magazine, since it came into the hands of its present Proprietors, are given not in a vain and boasting spirit, but to show the course which is intended to be pursued, and the means which are at command to effect the fulfilment of the promise assumed by the work, and so liberally commended by the public.

THIRD VOLUME OF THE OHIO FARMER AND WESTERN HORTICULTURIST.

In presenting a prospectus for the third volume of the Ohio Farmer to the public, the Editor conceives it unnecessary to enter into a minute detail of its character and object. These have been clearly evinced since its commencement, and from the high testimonials received from Agriculturists and Horticulturists of the first standing and intelligence, he is not without a hope that his labors have been of some service to the cause of Western Agriculture, and that there has been, at least partial satisfaction to those who patronize the work.

There was never a period of deeper interest to the cultivators of the soil in the great valley of the Mississippi than the present. There never was a time when intelligence could be put to better uses—when knowledge was of greater advantage. It is the era of advancement in the art and science of the cultivation of the earth, and the improvement of useful animals. And he who refuses to keep pace with the times, by informing himself of what is transpiring around him, will lose more than half the pleasures and advantages of his own age.—The certainty of ready market and a rich reward for all the productions of the earth should be a double stimulant to increase the quantity.

The OHIO FARMER will be devoted to ORIGINAL ESSAYS, and articles selected from the best works, and occasionally illustrated by ENGRAVINGS. No agricultural work ever published in the West has been so liberally supplied with original articles, the most of which have been copied and received a wide circulation in other papers. The culture of soil—improvement of animals—of garden vegetables—of Agricultural implements, and Geology Botany, Chymistry, &c. &c. will receive due attention.

SLK.—As the culture of this new article of wealth and industry, is exciting universal interest through the whole country, we contemplate devoting a sufficient portion of the Volume of the Farmer to this subject, to give all new beginners a fair start, who may wish to enter into the business, either on a large or a small scale, from the sowing of the mulberry seed to the reeling and manufacturing of the cocoons, colouring &c.

Each Volume of this paper is furnished with a Title Page and Index, expressly for binding, and will make about 200 pages. The first number of the Third Volume will be published on the 1st day of January, 1835.

CONDITIONS.

The Farmer is published twice a month at $1.00 in advance. All notes on solvent Banks received. Payment may be made at our risk, free of postage. Persons obtaining 5 subscribers and forwarding the money, shall receive a copy for their trouble.

Editors, who wish to receive the Third Volume will please publish the above, and forward their papers for exchange.
